Counselor Training Conference

The second Service Providers' Conference was held on Thursday, September 7, 2017 at the Blue Gate Garden Inn located in Shipshewana, Indiana. This year's theme was "Assisting Clients Who Have Opioid Addictions or Personality Disorders". Forty-seven counselors representing 12 different service providers in Indiana and Michigan attended the conference. Martha Allen, the Maternal and Child Division Director for the Indiana State Department of Health, presented the morning sessions on responding to client opioid addiction. Dr. Gregory Lester, our afternoon speaker, taught counselors about personality disorders and offered practical intervention strategies for counselors to use with clients.

V. Conclusion

Women's Care Center, located in Niles, MI, is situated in a beautiful old home that is very well preserved and maintained. It's very comfortable, organized, and attractive. Anyone would feel safe and secure in that environment. The site is in a very accessible part of town. All of the staff members were pleasant, helpful, very professional, and extremely well organized. It's no wonder why many women come here for confidential, compassionate and free services when they are experiencing unexpected pregnancies!

Rachael's mom called our center seeking a free pregnancy test for her daughter. While meeting with a counselor, Rachael was very open and shared the difficult circumstances she was facing. Though Rachael had a job and was not a minor, she was not in a relationship and said this pregnancy was unplanned. She also talked about her health condition that had permanently affected her physical appearance. Because Rachael didn't feel well on medication, she turned to frequent marijuana use for relief.

In discussing options for her pregnancy, she quickly dismissed the idea of adoption, stating that she wouldn't want the baby to end up in foster care. With more adoption information shared by the counselor, she said if she chose adoption she would want to choose parents who were unable to have their own children. She told the counselor that she did not believe in abortion for babies that have a heartbeat, but she would absolutely plan on having an abortion if the fetus was small. She said she did not feel that she was capable of parenting right now given her life circumstances.

Rachael's mother was supportive of any decision her daughter wanted to make, including abortion. Rachael and her mom were able to receive an ultrasound right away and were surprised to learn that she was nearly half way through the pregnancy! The baby's due date landed on Rachael's mom's birthday, which seemed to soften her heart.

They toured our Crib Club store to see the new baby items that could be earned and they seemed encouraged. Rachael's mom committed to help her and to also attend the parenting classes as her support person. Together Rachael and her mom attended almost 25 classes! She learned the basics about pregnancy, newborn care and breastfeeding, along with many other parenting helps. Rachael also earned many baby items including a car seat, swing and stroller.

Her mom often expressed her gratitude for our services when she was in for classes. Rachael's son Aaron was born in good health! They brought him in to meet our staff and she received a gift for her new baby boy!

V. Conclusion

The Caring Network's trained staff assists women throughout their pregnancy. Women receive information on fetal development, nutrition and breast-feeding. The Caring Network Case Managers assist women in finding appropriate community resources to meet their needs and to help them have a healthy pregnancy and birth. Parenting and self-care classes are offered. The Caring Network also provides material needs for mother and babies. The following client success story shows the value of the outstanding work the center does:

Patty came to us as a high school senior 6 months pregnant with her first child. She and her family were not living in stable housing, and there was a lot of uncertainty with them. Given the size of her family, Caring Network was unable to help with housing but engaged Patty in Real Alternatives case management.

Patty regularly attended appointments with her case manager; the case manager had to ask Patty's mother to sit out at least ½ of each appointment, as Mom would dominate the discussions. Patty's case manager discussed her pregnancy, parenting, housing (once she turned 18 she was eligible for Catholic Charities housing), her relationship with the father of the baby (FOB), and encouraged her to finish high school. Patty's primary goal was to be prepared for her son's birth: this she achieved. She delivered a healthy boy just over a year ago.

In addition to case management, Patty attended classes at Caring Network (Mama Academy and Childbirth Preparation and Parenting for Teens).

When Patty's family left her behind to return to their hometown, Patty moved in with the FOB's family. She continued with case management and began pursuing her own housing. The RA case manager encouraged her to apply for CCDOK housing. Patty moved into CCDOK housing when her son was 8 months old. She transitioned into another CCDOK program when her son was 10 months old (her RA case manager resigned).

Patty is successfully working with the CCDOK housing program, has a beautiful, thriving 1 year old, is working almost full-time, and has begun looking into obtaining housing on her own. I believe that without the Real Alternatives program, Patty would not be doing as well as she is. Her family would not have encouraged her to be as independent as she currently is; she is motivated to learn as much as she can, to help others, and to provide a good life for her son.

V. Conclusion

Catholic Charities of Southeast Michigan's Royal Oak office is located in the ground level of an office building along 11 Mile Road. The office sees clients both in the clean, comfortable counseling rooms at this center and in the client's own homes. The following client story illustrates the terrific work done at this center.

Amy was young and pregnant when she first heard about Project Hope. She was scared because she didn't know anything about babies or being a mother. Her own mother died when she was very young and her father, while supportive, didn't teach her much about how to care for others. Amy attended counseling at CCSEM for depression and anxiety. Her friends and family all told her she should just get an abortion. After all, they said, she was unemployed, living in her father's house and the father of the baby had left.

Amy found out about Project Hope through her therapist and was quickly welcomed into the program. Project Hope ensured that she maintained her stable housing, provided resources for food, clothing and utility assistance. Project Hope helped her with baby items and furniture so she was ready for when her baby arrived. Most importantly, Amy was taught about her growing baby inside her. She learned how a baby develops in the womb, and was taught what to expect when the baby was born.

Every little detail about being a new mother was gone over with Amy so that she could feel as confident as any other first time mom. Project Hope also explained Post-Partum Depression and helped Amy develop a plan with her therapist for after the baby was born. Through the weeks of her pregnancy, Amy became more and more confident and more excited for her baby to be born. When her baby boy was finally here, Amy was scared but was reassured by staff at Project Hope along with her therapist. Amy came in soon after the baby was born and continued to learn all about taking care of a baby. She watched videos, read material and talked extensively with Project Hope staff.

Today, Amy still comes to Project Hope to continue to learn about being a mom and what to expect from her baby. Her housing is stable, she is utilizing community resources, attends her therapy sessions, and has joined a mom's group. She says she can't imagine her life without her baby and thanks Project Hope for letting her feel that it was possible to be a good mom.

V. Conclusion

Catholic Charities of Southeast Michigan's Warren office is now closed. Clients were transferred to other locations for Catholic Charities. The following is an example of the terrific work that was done by this site:

Habi came to Project Hope through a refugee program. She was married with 2 children when she and her husband came to the US to escape the imminent danger in her homeland. Habi didn't know she was pregnant until she got to the US and had moved into a relative's home. Habi spoke very little English and required a translator. The relatives were very stressed when they learned that Habi was going to have another baby. Resources were scarce for the existing family members and they couldn't imagine having another person to take care of Habi was very upset and felt bad for her family. Project Hope worked to stabilize the living situation and helped provide baby supplies to ease the tension in the house. Habi was referred for prenatal care along with other community resources to help them access food and clothing. Project Hope assisted Habi's husband to secure employment so that he could help support the household. Through Project Hope, Habi began a program to learn English (her fourth language). She learned about the birthing options in the US and what to expect when she went into labor. Habi was nervous about going into labor and delivering her baby without her mother with her. Project Hope assisted Habi in developing a birth plan to ease her anxiety.

Habi delivered a healthy baby girl. This birth was very different for Habi as it was the first in the US and without the aid from her mother. Habi says she felt very supported and confident that she would have a healthy baby. Habi and her husband came to Project Hope for a while after the baby was born but stopped coming when they felt confident and financially stable enough to continue to raise their family on their own.

V. Conclusion

Catholic Charities of Southeast Michigan's Detroit location is in the St. Frances Cabrini Clinic. This building is a medical center. The pregnancy counseling services are offered in private rooms comfortably furnished. The following client story illustrates the outstanding services provided at this site.

Autumn came to Project Hope in Detroit with multiple needs. She was early in her pregnancy, had a toddler and many financial hardships. Volunteers transported Autumn to the office to meet with Project Hope staff regularly. She felt hopeless and said she couldn't imagine bringing another baby into her situation.

Project Hope helped link Autumn with numerous community resources to help meet her basic needs for food, shelter and clothing. When her basic needs were met, Autumn was able to then focus on her toddler and the new baby coming. Project Hope again facilitated linking Autumn with many community resources for baby supplies, as well as providing many baby supplies through our baby closet.

Project Hope staff taught Autumn about child development as well as fetal development and helped her prioritize taking care of herself and her toddler in order to take care of her growing baby. Midway through her pregnancy, Autumn learned that her new baby would have several (genetic) health issues. She leaned on Project Hope staff and volunteers more than ever to help accept this news and to understand exactly what was happening.

Autumn said she couldn't have gotten through that time without the help and support of Project Hope. Autumn learned, through doctors and Project Hope staff, what the conditions were about, the prognosis for her baby and what she would need to do to take care of her baby.

Autumn safely delivered her baby in August 2017. Since Project Hope linked Autumn with an obstetrician/clinic for prenatal care, the doctors and hospitals were ready when the baby was born to provide him with the best medical care. While the road ahead is a long, hard one for this baby, he is thriving and doing well. Autumn is prepared to take care of him and is much more financially stable. Autumn still regularly visits Project Hope staff to continue to learn about her son's condition, to learn about her toddler and parenting both children.

V. Conclusion

The Muskegon location of Catholic Charities of West Michigan is welcoming and easy to locate. The waiting area and counseling rooms are beautifully furnished and comfortable. The counselors are degreed professionals and see clients both at the site and in the client's homes. The following success story perfectly illustrates the wonderful work done at this site.

A hospital social worker referred a 26-year-old pregnant woman to our agency for counseling. The client was in her second trimester, unsure who the father of her baby was, and unsure of her own emotional ability to be a parent at this point in her life. Her family was completely overwhelmed as she continuously vacillated between whether she wanted to terminate her pregnancy, place her baby for adoption, or parent her child. They felt like no matter how many discussions they had they were not able to bring her any closer to a decision.

Our counselor drove out to her home a number of times over the span of a couple of weeks to process the complicated emotions she was experiencing regarding her pregnancy. She herself was overwhelmed at times to the point of contemplating suicide. The counselor was able to help her come to her own understanding that not only did she really want to carry out her pregnancy but that she also really did want to be a mother to this child.

Once this decision was made the client and her counselor began to work on the emotional and physical preparation needed to parent her baby. She began to accept the love that she had in her heart for this baby and began to get excited about the emotional and physical preparation involved with being a mother. Her family stood by her decision and fully embraced the idea of bringing a new baby into their home.

She was able to work full-time throughout her entire pregnancy, allowing her to save the money that she would need to take off a full three months after her baby was born. She committed to breast-feeding her baby and it was wonderful to watch her have this amazing bonding experience after her baby was born.

Being a single mother brought its own set of emotional struggles but the client took a referral to an outpatient "mother and baby" program that got her the psychological help she needed to keep moving forward on her mental health journey for the sake of her child. Although her baby was born a few weeks preterm, she is a beautiful, healthy baby girl. The client has committed to meeting with her pregnancy counselor throughout the baby's first year of life.

V. Conclusion

Pregnancy Aid is located in an urban area. The counseling rooms are warm and welcoming. Pregnancy Aid of Detroit provides free, confidential pregnancy testing, emotional support, professional counseling, referrals to community resources as well as material needs for mothers and babies. Classes are provided on a variety of topics, which include fetal development, parenting, breastfeeding, nutrition, and healthy relationships. There were 715 program eligible clients served at Pregnancy Aid in the last fiscal year.

The following client story tells of the wonderful work done at Pregnancy Aid.

On November 9th, 2016, Kristen came to Pregnancy Aid seeking program information and abortion information. She was about 10 week pregnant at the time. During Kristen's intake, I discovered that she came to Pregnancy Aid 10 years ago while pregnant with her now 10 year old daughter. She also disclosed that this was her third pregnancy but she had an abortion four years earlier.

Kristen said the abortion was horrible, stating, "It was the worst thing I've ever been through." She mentioned experiencing both physical and emotional trauma, including depression.

Following this experience Kristen was told by doctors she would not be able to conceive again. However, a home pregnancy test and doctor visit confirmed her third pregnancy. Her main concerns were financial stability and the possibility of miscarriage due to cocaine exposure. She admitted to living a less-than-stellar lifestyle that included drugs and occasional prostitution.... Our attempts to schedule an ultrasound failed.

Kristen left... and we reached out with no success. We were certain that she would follow through with the abortion.

On January 16th, 2017 we received a phone call from Kristen. We were elated to find out that she was still pregnant, however, she was not well. Kristen had no job, no income, no car, and was behind on her rent. This was our moment to show her we cared... and we secured funds to get her car from the impound lot.

Kristen began to attend several classes... and gave birth to a beautiful baby girl on June 1, 2017. Six day later we received a text message that read, "I cannot imagine ever not wanting to keep her. She's amazing!"

V. Conclusion

The Lennon Pregnancy Center is located an easily accessible building along Ann Arbor Trail in Dearborn Heights, Michigan. The waiting room is large and welcoming. Counseling rooms are warmly furnished and are private. The following client story shows the outstanding work done at this site.

Watching someone blossom within a few months of coming to class is one of the most gratifying parts of being at the Lennon center. My client J heard about us through a referral through her social worker. J was about 5 months pregnant when she first came to our center and had been part of the foster care system when she was three years old.

J was adopted but unfortunately her adoptive parents mistreated her. J suffers from severe depression because of her personal history. She and her boyfriend found themselves pregnant and practically homeless. When she came to our door J was obviously depressed and barely made eye contact. She had to go to multiple doctor appointments because her baby had heart issues. She was obviously stressed and felt very alone. In addition, she had nothing for her baby.

After convincing her to come to class where she met other pregnant women and learned how to take care of her baby, J began to relax and finally smile. J has come to the center consistently; she loves learning about her baby's development and is always curious to learn more.

She has made arrangements to move in with her sister so she has a home when the baby is born. J is much more confident and feels good about being to provide for her baby with the things that she has gotten from our center. J also enjoys the interaction with the other women in class and is offering help and advice to the other women in class.

J has also brought the baby's father to class when he is available and they both have participated in the cooking classes we have offered through the Beaumont health system. Her turn around has been amazing and she has begun journaling her feelings to help with her depression. I am grateful that Real Alternatives has helped us to help provide for someone like J and her new family.

V. Conclusion

Catholic Social Services of Washtenaw is located in a professional building along Packard Road in Ann Arbor. The counseling rooms are beautifully furnished and private. The waiting area is inviting and cheerful. Counselors are all degreed and give compassionate care to the clients. The following client story shows the wonderful work done at this site.

It was wintertime of 2016 when Kate first came to see me. She was receiving counseling in our Behavioral Health Program for her PTSD and had just discovered she was pregnant. Her therapist was ending her time at the agency and Kate agreed to come over to our Pregnancy Counseling Department and speak with me.

Kate was very emotional and stressed at the news that she was pregnant. She had a long history of very difficult circumstances including domestic violence, drug addiction, and financial struggles. Because of her history, she was separated from the 7 children she had given birth to over the past eighteen years. Her sons were being raised by their father and she had three young daughters who were removed by CPS and adopted through foster care due to her addiction and the domestic violence.

Kate was struggling to find any way to find hope in this pregnancy, although her greatest desire was to be able to mother her children and she constantly suffered at having to be apart from them. She even considered terminating the pregnancy because she could not stand the thought of going through the process of losing another child to the foster care system.

But Kate did have reasons to hope. She has been in recovery from her addiction since 2014 and has made significant gains in her life by reaching out for therapy and trying to take better care of herself. Her partner went through domestic violence intervention services, and they have maintained a violence free home for years with safety plans in place should old patterns resurface. I told her there were no guarantees with Child Protective Services, but that there was a possibility that, given her life changes, they would allow her to try to parent this child. I explained how our program has helped women in similar situations to successfully parent after losing their rights to previous children. I gave her counseling about open adoption to have as an alternate plan, where she could choose a family and remain in contact with the child over the child's life.

Kate worked very hard to prepare for parenting throughout her entire pregnancy. Although none of it was ever easy, she received regular prenatal care, maintained housing, went to a work program, and received counseling and parenting services through our program. In the early fall, she gave birth to a beautiful baby girl, "Chloe." Child Protective Services did have to be involved due to her history, but they allowed her to take Chloe home with a parenting plan. Within a few months, they closed her case!

Kate realized her dream of being able to parent her child and Chloe's father is positively involved as well. She continues to receive counseling and home visits through our program. She still has barriers to overcome but has come such a long way! Chloe is meeting all of her milestones and is a very happy and adventurous baby. Kate is even working to build better relationships with her other children to whom she has access. I am very proud of Kate for grasping onto a little bit of hope and working so hard to achieve her goals.
